Wounded Warriors Fund

by Holly Houser,
Ocean Reef Press Staff

In fall 2015, the Ocean Reef Community Foundation's Wounded Warriors Fund assisted in providing several severely wounded United States veterans with wheelchairs they otherwise would not have been able to receive.

With the cost of wheelchairs ranging from $3,000 to $8,000, many wounded veterans are in need but can't afford to buy them on their own. Thanks in part to the donation by the Ocean Reef Wounded Warriors Fund, service members were provided with wheelchairs based on their needs, from regular wheelchairs to those used for racing, basketball, tennis, and other activities, helping them participate once again in the physical activities they love.

With the mission "to provide support for the men and women of the Armed Forces and their families with an emphasis on those who have been injured in the line of duty," Al Mast and Leonard Wood established the Ocean Reef Wounded Warriors Fund in 2007. The Fund allows the Ocean Reef Community an accessible and direct way to help soldiers surviving severe war injuries and facing considerable difficulties returning to civilian life. In the past, Member contributions to the Fund have helped provide handicap accessible vans, as well as new barrier-free homes to numerous veterans.

Not to be confused with the national Wounded Warriors Project, all proceeds donated to the ORC Wounded Warriors Fund go 100% to help injured veterans. In some cases, Ocean Reef Wounded Warriors teams up with other worthy charities such as the Semper Fi Fund. Created in 2004 by a group of Marine Corps spouses, the Semper Fi Fund then puts 100% of the funding directly to supporting service members.
